

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to a method, and associated apparatus, for modifying a radio frequency (RF) response. An exemplary method includes 5 establishing an RF response in a signal path of a device; and controlling an actuator to structurally alter the signal path and dynamically change an impedance of the signal path to alter the RF response.